Kirk A. Heffelmire, PhD

Kirk is a Social Scientist at the Internal Revenue Service conducting internal research on IRS operations as well as the taxpayer experience. He has 5 years of service in the federal government and entered his most recent appointment as a Presidential Management Fellow (PMF). He holds an undergraduate degree in philosophy from the University of Akron, a master's degree in economics from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, and a doctoral degree in policy analysis from George Mason University. Kirk's dissertation explored the diffusion of evidence-based polices across state mental health agencies. He is an APPAM superfan and previously served on the Student Advisory Committee along with assisting the start of the APPAM student conferences.